TODAY'S GAME

Today's game is the 21st meeting between Cortland and Brockport. Cortland holds a commanding 16-2-2 edge in the series, but Brockport has played excellent football against the Red Dragons of late.

This is Cortland's Homecoming and Centennial game and one of the highlights of the game will be the induction of the charter members of the C-Club Hall of Fame. The new inductees are George Breen, Whitney Corey, John Glinski, Merlin Hathaway, Leo Meldrim and John Moiseichik. (see pages 33-34 for story).

Brockport is coming into the game with a 1-4 record, but they should be a much improved team when they meet the Dragons. After losing their first three games, Coach Gerald D'Agostino's charges defeated Nichols, 47-20, and dropped a tough, 17-3, decision to Indiana (Pa.) University. Indiana was rated as the number two small college team in the country by "Sports Illustrated" at the beginning of the season.

The offense is led by senior halfback Bob Nugent and junior quarterback Mike Driscoll. Nugent has troubled the Dragons for the past two years. He led the Golden Eagles to a win two years ago in Cortland's Homecoming game ending Coach Roger Robinson's all-winning record at College Field. Last year he again led the Eagles as they narrowly missed upsetting Cortland, 7-6.

Driscoll has been sensational this year. Going into the Indiana game, Driscoll was ranked as the number two passer in the college division and number four in total offense. He has connected on 66 of 122 passes for 824 yards and four touchdowns. His total offensive output shows him with 944 yards on 132 plays. Brockport was rated 12th nationally in total offense with 1724 yards in 319 plays for an average of 431 yards per game.

Driscoll's favorite target is end Dave Lanning who had caught 29 passes for 288 yards prior to the Indiana game.

The Red Dragons are coming into the game with a record of 3-1 after their win over C. W. Post last Saturday, 24-15. The rushing attack seems to be back on track after two tough games. Cortland gained 266 yards on the ground against Post led by halfback Joe Bramante. The junior from Newark leads the team in rushing with 361 yards on 86 carries and scoring with 36 points on six TD's.

Bramante teams with two other juniors, quarterback John Anselmo and split end Earl Rogers, to form the nucleus of the Cortland attack. Anselmo leads the team in passing with 32 completions in 70 attempts for 452 yards and six touchdowns. He also leads the team in total offense with 649 yards on 126 plays and he is second to Bramante in rushing with 197 yards on 56 carries. Rogers is the top Dragon receiver with 16 catches good for 259 yards and three TD's.

Cortland's offensive line led by senior tackles Pat Nugent and Phil Grebinar has played top-notch football.

Defensively Cortland finally put together a strong pass rush as the front five dropped the Post quarterback eight times for 74 yards and caused four fumbles which Cortland recovered. The line consists of ends Jim Nelson and Len Schlacter, tackle Mike White and middle guard Mike Cappeto. Nugent and offensive center Bob Gould have been alternating at the other tackle slot. The strong linebacking corps is led by captain Dave Urick.

The defensive secondary also has played quite well despite being stung for 240 yards passing by Post. Led by Gary Feger, they have picked off five enemy passes, knocked down numerous passes and limited opponents to three touchdown passes.

Forget the team records and statistics for this game however. The rivalry between these two colleges is intense and feelings are high. The victory will go to the team that wants to win the most. Whatever the outcome it will be a hard-hitting, hard-fought contest.

The History of College Football

by ALLISON DANZIG

ON THE PLAYING FIELDS of Rugby came the genesis of the American game of football.

Had not, in 1823, a schoolboy at the famed English Public School by the name of William Webb Ellis taken it into his head on the spur of the moment to run with a ball kicked by the opposing side, thereby outraging propriety with this shocking violation of the rules, soccer might have continued the only style of football played in Britain and on the North American continent. Then and there (or some days later, when the indignant outcry had changed to a feeling that maybe the revolutionary blackguard had something) was born the game of Rugby football, or rugger, in which running with the ball is permitted.

Had not, a half century later, Harvard University, also by chance, played a style of football that had elements of Rugby, soccer (Association football) might have remained the pastime on our college campuses, and our own style of game might not have evolved as a predominantly running and, later, forward passing game. It was a form of soccer, with twenty-five on a side, that Princeton and Rutgers played in the first game of intercollegiate football in this country November 6, 1869, at New Brunswick, N. J. It was soccer that Yale and Columbia also played a century ago.

Because its football differed from the game of the others, Harvard declined to join in the first intercollegiate rules convention at the Fifth Avenue Hotel in New York October 19, 1873, at which rules modeled after those of the London Football Association (soccer) were adopted. It turned for competition to McGill University of Montreal, which played the football of the English Rugby Union. Two games in the spring of 1874 with McGill at Cambridge, and a third in the fall at Montreal, sold Harvard completely on Rugby and led, at long last, to the most famous of all college football rivalries in the country—the Harvard-Yale game, or THE GAME.

The Crimson and the Blue met for the first time November 13, 1875, at Hamilton Field in New Haven, Conn., under "Concessionary Rules," playing a hybrid game of Rugby and soccer, with fifteen on a side and a round soccer ball. Harvard was the winner over a Yale team that scarcely knew what it was all about. A year later, they met in Rugby, with Yale converted to Harvard's style of football and Harvard giving in to Yale's demand for eleven on a side. They played with an egg-shaped leather ball on a field 140 yards by 70, and Yale won, one goal to none.

That same year, 1876, Princeton, won over to Rugby, called a convention at Massasoit House in Springfield, Mass. Yale, Harvard, Columbia and Princeton representatives formed the American Intercollegiate Football Association. They adopted the code of the Rugby Football Union except for a scoring change, the game being decided by a majority of touchdowns and a goal being equal to four touchdowns.

The die was now cast: Football was to become a running as well as kicking game, and the way was cleared for the evolution of football into a game indigenous to the United States.

The man who led in that evolution, whose creative, inventive mind came up with the fundamental changes and whose leadership in getting them adopted brought about the development of a game of imagination, strategy, skill, speed and daring far surpassing the rather elemental structure and concepts of Rugby, was Walter Camp of Yale. He was the first giant of American football, the father of the game, and he helped to set the highest standard of sportsmanship by precept and personal example.

Camp was a contemporary of Amos Alonzo Stagg (the most inventive of all coaches, the Grand Old Man whose coaching career spanned three score and ten years until he retired in 1960 at the age of 98, and who died at 102 in 1965). A man of rugged honesty and stern simplicity, Camp was of the Spartan mold. From the time Camp attended a rules convention in 1878 as a Yale player, he was a member of every rules committee until his death in March, 1925.

The first of his most far-reaching changes came in 1880. This was the substitution of scrimmage for the Rugby scrum. Two years later came the adoption of his system of downs and yards to gain—at first 5 yards in three downs, then 10 in 3 (1906) and finally 10 in 4 downs (1912). These two revolutionary innovations changed the basic structure of football and brought about a new concept and format of the game. The principle of possession of the ball was established and that was the most fundamental departure from Rugby, in which the ball changes hands endlessly, often in a matter of seconds. Also in 1880, Camp won his long fight to reduce the number of players from 15 to 11.

With the introduction of scrimmage, the quarterback made his appearance and also there came a new method of putting the ball in play. Instead of being heeled out in a melee of rival Rugby packs, it was given to the offensive center and he snapped it back with his foot to his quarterback.

With possession and control of the ball, planning and strategy became important. Also in 1882, the field was reduced from 140 by 70 yards to 110 by 53 1/3 and took on the gridiron appearance with the horizontal lines every five yards for the measurement of first downs.

Simultaneously, Camp devised the system of signals and worked out the accepted arrangement of the eleven players—7 forwards, a quarter, two halfbacks and a fullback. A year later he introduced the numerical scoring system, assigning point values for the methods of scoring—5 for a field goal, 4 for a goal after touchdown (try), 2 for a touchdown and 1 for a safety (made by opponent).

In 1884, another of the fundamental features of American football became established without actually being sanctioned by legislation. This was interference or blocking. Princeton had been using convoys at the sides of the carrier since 1879 and now sent them ahead, a clear violation of Rugby's "offside," but passively accepted and then, in 1888, legalized by implication.

In 1888 came the last of Camp's fundamental changes that created the structure of the American game prior to the legalization of the forward pass in 1906. This was permitting tackling below the waist.

When the line constricted, the backs—formerly spread across the field—had to close in also, for protection against the deadly low tackle. Thus resulted the close formation that became standard—the original T, from which a quarter century later Notre Dame was to shift into the box and which, approximately another quarter century after, was to have its revival in the modern version as employed with sensational success by Stanford University.

No one foresaw it at the time, but this particular change in 1888 was to bring about a game so brutal and hazardous as to lead to outcries for the abolition of football. As a consequence, the far-reaching rules changes of 1906 legalized the forward pass and resulted in an open game so imaginative and thrilling with its speed, deception and skilled maneuvers as to win millions of new followers.

(This is the first of a four-part series.)

Break your beard in right.

Right now your beard is in the formative stage.

You can shave it with a razor blade like your father does. And each time you do your beard will grow back a little more difficult. Until one day shaving's no longer a chore. It's an agony.

Look no further than your father's face for proof.

But fortunately, you're catching your beard at an early age. You can break it in to be just as shaveable 10 and 20 years from now as it is today.

With a REMINGTON® Lektro Blade shaver.

And if you think the kind of shave we're selling won't be close enough for you, you're wrong.

Our new Lektro Blade shaver has very sharp disposable blades. Just like a razor. So it gives very close shaves. Just like a razor.

What's more, you can dial a Lektro Blade shaver into a sideburn trimmer.

Admittedly, it costs more to buy our electric shaver than a razor and some blades.

But it's a good investment.

These next few years will determine how you and your beard will get along for the rest of your lives.†

MEET THE COACHES

ROGER ROBINSON is in his seventh year as head football coach. He has compiled a six year record of 35 victories and 15 defeats and he has never had a losing season at Cortland.

Coach Robinson was named varsity football coach and associate professor of physical education at Cortland in January, 1963. A graduate of Syracuse in 1947, he also received his master's degree from that University.

His first coaching assignment was as assistant backfield coach at the University of Rochester. He then served two years, 1948-50, as line coach for Andy Kerr at Lebanon Valley (Pa.) College. From 1951 to 1956 he was head coach of football and track at Port Jervis High School. He moved from there to Harvard University. Robinson came to Cortland after six years as Harvard's backfield coach. In addition to his football duties there he also coached freshman track.

Coach Robinson is married and is the father of eight children, five girls and three boys.

ANDY GRIEVE came to Cortland in 1965 and assumed the duties of freshman football and basketball coach. A graduate of N.Y.U. and Ithaca College, Grieve spent seventeen years in the high school ranks, coaching and teaching in New York and Pennsylvania schools. In his last position, Grieve was director of health, physical education and recreation at Sherburne High School, where he was head football and basketball coach for nine years. In addition to his coaching duties, Andy is an assistant professor of physical education.

LARRY MARTIN, offensive line coach, is returning to Cortland after a two year absence while he completed work on his doctorate at Springfield College. A native of Cortland, Martin received bachelor's and master's degrees from the college at Cortland. After graduation he spent ten years in the North Country - two years at Gouverneur, four years at Massena High, and four years at Canton Central where he was director of athletics and coached the varsity football and basketball teams. He returned to Cortland in 1963 and coached the freshman football team for two years before moving up to the varsity as line coach.

JOHN EMMER is beginning his first coaching assignment at Cortland. A 1967 graduate of Rutgers, Emmer was a standout athlete there and was captain of both the football and lacrosse teams. Jack set almost every major pass receiving record at Rutgers before graduating including most passes caught and most yards gained pass receiving in a single game, season and career. The Mineola native had a tryout with the New York Jets after graduation and was one of the last players cut from the squad. He then played as a flankerback for the Long Island Bulls. Prior to accepting his present position at Cortland, Jack taught for one year at Levittown Division High and one year at East Meadow High. In addition to his football coaching duties at the College, Emmer will be an instructor of physical education and head lacrosse coach.

VINCE GONINO, frosh line coach, is a native of Watertown, N. Y., where he participated in wrestling, football and track in high school. He graduated from Ohio State University where he was a standout wrestler, winning two Ohio AAU championships and capturing two awards in Big Ten championships. Before coming to Cortland, Vince taught and coached at Whitehall High School in Ohio and Keystone Junior College in Pennsylvania. This is Vince's fifth year at Cortland. He also is varsity wrestling coach, coordinator of the Men's Physical Education Program and an instructor of physical education.

NICK RYDER, graduate assistant coach, is beginning his first season at Cortland. A former star football player at the University of Miami, he went on to play for two years with the Detroit Lions of the National Football League after he graduated in 1963. The Haverstraw native began his coaching and teaching career at North Rockland High School four years ago. Prior to coming to Cortland this fall to work toward his master's degree, Nick spent a year coaching and teaching at Notre Dame High School in Utica. He works with the defensive backs on the Red Dragon eleven.

The First Intercollegiate Game

by JOHN W. HERBERT, Rutgers '72

(The following article was written in 1933 for the Associated Press by the late John W. Herbert, Rutgers 1872, prominent New York corporation lawyer, who was a member of the Rutgers "25" which defeated Princeton in the 1869 contest.)

THE FIRST intercollegiate game of football, not only in the United States but in the world, was played on November 6, 1869, at New Brunswick between Rutgers College and Princeton University. I had the proud distinction of having participated in that game on the Rutgers team.

The challenge for the game was issued by Rutgers to Princeton. In the preliminary arrangements it was agreed that there should be twenty-five players on each side and that three games should be played, the side winning the first six goals in the game to be declared the winner of that game.

Had No Uniforms

The game was called at 3 o'clock and started with a free kickoff from the tee, the same as now. It was played on the commons (where the Rutgers gymnasium now stands). On the arrival of the players, a few minutes before the game was called, they laid aside their hats, coats and vests. Neither team was in uniform, although some Rutgers players wore scarlet stocking-caps.

The players lined up on each side, the organization of the twenty-five being the same on both sides. Two men were selected by each team to play immediately in front of the opponent's goal and were known as captains of the enemy's goal.

The remainder of each team was divided into two sections. The players in one section were assigned to certain tracts of the field which they were to cover and not to leave. They were known as "fielders." The other section was detailed to follow the ball up and down the field. These latter players were called "bulldogs."

The toss of the coin for advantage gave Princeton the ball and Rutgers the wind. Amid a hush of expectancy among the spectators Princeton bucked or kicked the ball, but the kick was bad and the ball glanced to one side. Parke H. Davis, in his "Football, the American Intercollegiate Game," then describes the game as follows:

Rutgers Scores!

"The light, agile Rutgers men pounced upon it like hounds and by driving it by short kicks and dribbles, the other players surrounding the ball and not permitting a Princeton man to get near it, quickly and craftily forced it down to Old Nassau's goal, where the captains of the enemy's goal were waiting and these two latter sent the ball between the posts amid great applause.

"The first goal had been scored in five minutes of play. During the intermission, Captain Gummere instructed Michael (the late Jacob E. Michael, Princeton '71, who was to become Dean of the Faculty at the University of Maryland), a young giant of the Princeton 25, to break up Rutgers massing around the ball. Sides were changed and Rutgers 'bucked'.

"In this period the game was fiercely contested. Time and time again Michael or "Big Mike," charged into Rutgers' primitive mass play and scattered the players like a burst bundle of sticks. On one of these plays Princeton obtained the ball and by a long accurate kick scored the second goal."

The third goal went to Rutgers and the fourth was kicked by Princeton.

The fifth and sixth goals went to Rutgers, but the feature of this latter period of play in the memory of the players after the lapse of many years is awarded to "Big Mike" and Large, (The late State Senator George H. Large of Flemington, a Rutgers player). Someone, by a random kick, had driven the ball to one side, where it rolled against the fence and stopped. Large led the pursuit for the ball, closely followed by Michael. They reached the fence, on which the students were perched, and unable to check their momentum, in a tremendous impact struck the fence which gave way with a crash and over went its load of yelling students to the ground.

Every college probably has the humorous tradition of some player who has scored against his own team. This tradition at Rutgers dated from this first game, for one of her players, whose identity is unknown, in the sixth period started to kick the ball between his own goal posts. The kick was blocked, but Princeton took advantage of the opportunity and soon made the goal. This turn of the game apparently disorganized Rutgers, for Princeton also scored the next goal after a few minutes of play, thus bringing the total up to four all.

Strategy!

At this stage Rutgers resorted to that use of craft which has never failed to turn the tide of every close battle. Captain Leggett has noticed that Princeton obtained a great advantage from the taller stature of their men, which enabled them to reach above the others and bat the ball in the air in some advantageous direction.

Rutgers was ordered to keep the ball close to the ground. Following this stratagem the Rutgers men determinedly kicked the ninth and tenth goals, thus winning the match six goals to four and with it the distinction of a victory in the first game of intercollegiate football played in the world.

FIRST TIME EVER!!

Every significant statistical fact of college football's first century is now recorded in one publication . . . COLLEGE FOOTBALL'S ALL-TIME RECORD BOOK.

A goldmine of information and history that no other publication can offer, this brand new 176-page almanac features more than 25,000 facts about some 5,500 college football players and teams. For example, did you know:

Jim Thorpe outrushed O. J. Simpson?

Michigan scored 644 points in 610 minutes of play in 1902?

The last change in the size of the football occurred in 1934?

Bear Bryant leads all active coaches with 187 victories?

Glenn Davis averaged 10.1 yards every time he handled the ball in his career?

Yale has won more football games (627) than any other college?

Knute Rockne and Frank Leahy lead all coaches in winning percentage?

Skipper Butler of UTexas Arlington needs four field goals for an all-time career high?

Cincinnati's Greg Cook set a 100-year mark of 554 yards passing in one game in 1968?

The answers, and thousands more, are all in the book that was 100 years in the making . . . COLLEGE FOOTBALL'S ALL-TIME RECORD BOOK.

Included are 32 pages of game, season and career records for both major-college and college-division teams and players and — for the first time anywhere — game-by-game statistical charts on such early-day greats as Willie Heston, Jim Thorpe, George Gipp, Red Grange and the Four Horsemen. You'll find, too, year-by-year highlights of the first 100 years, pictures of many top players and coaches and illustrated stories on 19 career and season record-holders of the modern era.

Enjoy the Centennial season even more by following the leaders and comparing them with the all-time greats. You can do it for only $4.95.

C-CLUB HALL OF FAME

Last spring a proposal was made by the Advisory Committee of the C-Club of the State University College at Cortland that a Hall of Fame be instituted at the College. The proposal was taken under consideration and it was decided that the C-Club would sponsor a Hall of Fame.

It was also decided that the C-Club Hall of Fame would be Cortland's contribution to the Centennial Year of college football and that the inductees would be honored during halftime ceremonies at the Homecoming game today.

Nominations were submitted by Club members for consideration by the Faculty-Athletic Committee of the College. Over the years numerous outstanding athletes have carried the colors of the State University College at Cortland with honor and distinction in their accomplishments on the playing fields and in their personal careers. Yet with more than one hundred nominees to choose from, six men stood out as obvious selections. The six charter inductees to the C-Club Hall of Fame are George Breen, Whitney Corey, John Glinski, Merlin Hathaway, Leo Meldrim and John Moiseichik.

GEORGE T. BREEN exemplifies the qualities needed for selection into the Hall of Fame. Breen was the greatest swimmer Cortland has ever had. Coached by the renowned Dr. James E. "Doc" Counsilman, Breen won national and international prominence for his superlative accomplishments.

A three-time college All-American and six-time A.A.U. All-American, Breen had captured sixteen national titles by the time he retired as an active swimmer. He also held four world records in the 800 meter, 880 yard, 1500 meter and mile freestyles.

Breen was a member of two Olympic teams. In the 1956 Olympics at Melbourne, Australia, he won two bronze medals in the 400 and 1500 meter freestyles and one silver medal in the 800 meter relay. In the 1960 Olympics at Rome, Breen captained the swimming team and won a bronze medal in the 1500 meter freestyle.

He was named as a member of the American team that was sent to compete in Japan in 1955 and again in 1959. In 1959 he also was chosen as captain of the U.S. swimming team for the Pan American games and went on to win first place in the 400 meter freestyle. His final award as a swimmer came in 1963 when he was elected to the Helms Hall of Fame.

After retiring as an active swimmer, Breen turned to coaching. He coached the Riviera Club in Indianapolis from 1960 to 1962 before returning East to Philadelphia to coach the Vesper Boat Club boys team from 1962-65. In 1966 he accepted the position of head swimming coach at the University of Pennsylvania and in 1968 he added the duties of coach of the Vesper Boat Club girls team. He has coached several prominent swimmers including Olympians Carl Robie, 1964 and 1968, Jane Barkman and Ellie Daniel, 1968. They combined to win three gold, one silver and one bronze medal between them in the 1968 games in Mexico City.

WHITNEY T. "PETE" COREY, dean of the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation at Cortland, is a 1943 graduate of Cortland. Dr. Corey is well-known to most Cortland area residents having been a member of the faculty at the College for 21 years in a variety of key teaching and administrative positions.

He was an outstanding basketball player at Cortland, but many of his more noted accomplishments came later as a coach and an educator. He was chairman of the Men's Physical Education Department for 15 years from 1952 to 1967 and served as acting director of the HPER Division in 1965. He was assistant director of athletics for three years and director of athletics for four years.

In addition to teaching and administrative duties, Dr. Corey has coached intercollegiate teams in football, basketball, baseball and golf. His most extensive coaching experience at Cortland has been in basketball. During a ten-year span ending with the 1961-62 season. Dr. Corey's varsity basketball teams registered 130 wins against 69 losses and won three State University conference tournaments plus the Hofstra Invitational.

Dr. Corey was elected by his colleagues as 1968-69 chairman of the Cortland College Faculty. He has served in the past as a member of faculty committees dealing with promotions, athletics and graduate affairs. He also served on the Faculty Committee for the Future of the College which involved the entire campus in the development of Cortland's long-range academic plan in 1966.

JOHN GLINSKI's achievements as an outstanding student-athlete in his undergraduate years started him on his path to a role of leadership today in Eastern intercollegiate athletics and physical education.

As a basketball player he was regarded as one of the nation's best small college defensive forwards. But he could score as well, and led Cortland in scoring when the Red Dragons captured the 1952

Hofstra University Invitational tourney, where he was named Most Valuable Player.

Glinski played for Coach Whitney T. Corey's great teams of the early 1950's and contributed to the Dragon's 25 game winning streak in inter-collegiate competition, still a College record.

Glinski enjoyed similar success as a pitcher for Cortland baseball squads. Following his graduation in 1954 he was a draft choice of Philadelphia in the National Basketball Association but elected instead to sign a baseball contract as a pitcher with the Baltimore Orioles' organization. When an arm injury ended his pitching career, he made teaching and coaching his life's work.

Now a professor of physical education at the State University College at Oswego, where he also serves as varsity basketball coach and director of athletics, Glinski has compiled a fine record as a coach, teacher and administrator of athletics. This season he will begin his 12th year as head coach in basketball with an overall record of 151 wins and 66 losses. His Oswego teams have enjoyed some great seasons, winning State University conference championships and piling up won-loss marks such as 20-2 and 19-2.

MERLIN W. HATHAWAY was a standout football and track star at Cortland in his undergraduate days. He has been called the best natural athlete Cortland has ever had by several staff members who are his contemporaries.

As a halfback in football he possessed great natural speed and agility making him a top-notch ball-carrier and defender. In track he specialized in the sprints, particularly the 100 yard dash. Unfortunately he was never pushed to reach his full potential so no one will ever know just how good he might have been. Quite often he would race with his sweat suit still on and win convincingly.

After graduating from Cortland in 1940 he taught in public schools for four years and did his graduate work at the State University at Albany and New York University.

He returned to Albany and served as director of athletics and chairman of the Physical Education Department for twenty-two years until 1966. He then decided he would like to return to teaching so he resigned from his administrative positions and rejoined the teaching faculty four years ago.

Hathaway was one of the prime-movers in the formation of the State University conference and was named as its president for the first two terms.

In Hathaway's own words, "I hope that any contribution I have made in the field lies in whatever influence, directly or indirectly, my contact with several thousand students and teachers may have had."

LEO A. MELDRIM, a 1930 graduate of Cortland, has spent the last 23 years as chairman of the city Youth and Recreation Commission for the city of Cortland. He has been instrumental in the establishment and development of four city parks and two swimming pools along with approximately 80 other programs for young people.

Meldrim was an outstanding athlete at Cortland High School and was a member of the school's first undefeated football squad before his graduation in 1926. From there he went on to the college where he won nine letters in three years as quarterback of the football team, forward on the basketball team and catcher on the baseball team.

After graduation, he joined the faculty at Rome Free Academy as a physical education instructor and assistant coach. He took over as head coach in 1933 and directed his teams to an overall record of 40-10-4 in a seven year period. For three straight years his Rome Free Academy teams were the undefeated State football champions with a three-year record of 20-0-2.

Meldrim resigned from his coaching position in 1940 to return to Cortland and enter business with his father in the A.J. Meldrim paint and wall-paper business. Four years later he was appointed to the original Cortland youth commission and became its chairman in 1946, a position he still holds today.

He has received several awards for his service to young people including the Pop Warner Conference distinguished achievement award in 1959 and last February the annual VFW Citizenship Award.

JOHN S. MOISEICHIK came to Cortland in 1940 and was an immediate star in football and basketball. His undergraduate career was interrupted by a three-year tour of duty with the Army Air Corps during World War II but he returned to Cortland and was presented the Red Letter Award as the most valuable player on the basketball team in his senior year, 1946.

He began his teaching and coaching career in 1947 at Cortland High School and completed work on his master's degree in physical education at Syracuse University in 1948.

He was presented with the first Distinguished Service Award as the "Outstanding Young Man of the Year," by Cortland Jaycees in 1947.

He was an outstanding football coach at Cortland High School for 20 years until he finally stepped down from that position in 1967. During that period his teams compiled a 109-39-7 record.

In addition to his teaching duties at Cortland High, Moiseichik is currently director of athletics, a position he has held since stepping down as football coach.

Big cars cost big money...
That's the way it was.

O. J. Simpson with his big, reasonably priced 1970 Chevrolet Impala Sport Coupe.
